Alison's Report

- Continuing to see a return to normal patron and book circulation counts
 - Programming has been met with enthusiasm
- Jamie Mize was contacted by the high school regarding a class coming in to do research
 - She will be guiding them through our website and the Mann Room
 - Scheduled for March 27, 28 and 29 from 9-11:15.
- Sheridan Brown, a local author and board member at Booker T. Washington state park will be speaking about her new book The Viola Factor.
 - She spoke on 2/16/23 as part of our Black History month offerings which include a Warren Street gathering this past Saturday along with an art display of ...
- Shelley, our red-eared slider turtle went to a new home this past Saturday as she has been rapidly outgrowing her habitat.
 - Children and parents/caregivers were given the opportunity to sign her goodbye card. A "tiny art" display will hang for a few weeks where her tank is currently.
- Blood drives and DMV back on a semi-regular schedule at our Westlake Branch and continue to be very popular.
- Hannah our library assistant has about 7 regulars in her teen group and they are doing some great things.
- Our series Think local, Cook Global has been great and is very popular.
 - Braxton Naff with Appalachian Craft Provisions has been great and is a fabulous chef.
